

Changing the Climate of Public Opinion

by Viv Forbes
3 May 2019.

Politicians are driven by public opinion, which drives voting behaviour. So we need to change public opinion. It only needs a couple of percent of people to switch, and politicians will notice, and trim their sails to the new wind.

In an attempt to change some opinions we have been releasing every day a short statement designed to highlight the stupidity of the Green/ALP/LNP climate/energy policy. It would help our campaign if all supporters circulated these as far as possible to your mail lists and on social media.

Pls help, time is short. Pick one you like or send the lot. Here they are:

Navy Going Nuclear?

In the brave new zero-emissions world, oil-powered aircraft carriers and diesel-powered subs are taboo.

Will the Australian navy go nuclear or back to sails?

Food from Trees

Greens worship trees. Our food is produced from grasslands and cultivation.

What do we eat in the brave new world of trees?

Pine chips?

Lights Out on Footy Night

It is 8pm on a big footy night. It is frosty with no wind. All the heaters, air-cons and TV's are drawing power.

Suddenly it is half time. All the jugs are then switched on to make coffee.

Not one amp of electricity is coming from wind/solar plants.

What will keep the lights on?

Racing to the Power Point in Birdsville

When 2,000 electric cars towing caravans descend on the Birdsville races, where do they charge their batteries overnight?

Take a ticket and join the queue?

Green Cement?

Making cement from limestone produces carbon-dioxide. In the brave new world of zero emissions, what replaces concrete?

Count Your Blessings

They told us to stop eating meat
Or the skies would soon overheat.
But the weather started snowing
And the blizzards started blowing
And soon there was no meat to eat.
